

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A system comprises a computer system having a central processing unit coupled to a memory and extraction algorithm. A plurality of different automatic speech recognition (ASR) engines are coupled to the computer system that is adapted to analyze a speech utterance and select one of the ASR engines that will most accurately recognize the speech utterance.